Pleasant Green To Honor Their Pastor

Members of the Pleasant Green Baptist Church, at Elliott and Wash streets, have planned a unique commemoration of the 10th anniversary of Rev. J. K. Parker's pastorate of that church. All members that joined the church from 1905 to 1915 are expected to give $10.00 for each year, or $100.00, at a token. Many have promised to give more.

The Pleasant Green congregation is divided into a number of companies. The soldiers are to report to their captains prior to June 13. On Monday, June 14, a grand levee entertainment will be given under the auspices of the "Originals." If there are any deserters from this vast army of Christian workers they are expected to return to the ranks and help to make this commemoration a notable success.

WHAT WILL THE SCHOOL BOARD DO?

As the school year draws to a close citizens from all over the city are seeking information as to what disposition the principal and superintendent, together with the school board, will make of the condition of affairs at the Summer High School. Nearly every day inquiries concerning the matter are received at the Argus office. According to the information received, there is a deep conviction in the community that the needlessness of certain teachers has long since been outlived, and the inquiry is made as to why the school authorities continue to retain them in the face of conditions. "An effort to fix the responsibility will doubtless be made unless the matter is handled promptly and rightly."

The thing which is most puzzling to the people, according to the statements made, is that the matter has been twisted about and an attempt has been made to construe the efforts to change conditions as an attack on the school. It is very clear, they state, that Summer High School has not been attacked; but the bad conditions spoken of relate to the retention of certain teachers who are fully identified so far as the people are concerned. According to these persons there is no reflection on any other teacher at the school save those involved. St. Louis has a very high regard, as a whole, for the teaching force in its schools and especially at the Summer, but they assert there is no reason to retain these teachers who are unfit and whom the whole community recognizes and designates as such.

For the benefit of inquirers and the public in general, the Argus sets out the manner of employing teachers as applied to the St. Louis schools. The present school system is the creature, very largely, of a late lamented F. Louis Solder, who was a big, broad-gauged man. Under this system, the anomalous condition is created that the creature is greater than his creator. The board of education elects the superintendent for a term of years. After he is once elected, the superintendent has the exclusive right to nominate teachers. The only power which the board retains in this matter is the power to confirm his nominations or reject them. It cannot place the name of an individual before it for consideration as a teacher. If anyone who is teaching now falls for recommendation by the superintendent, that is the end of it. There is no power to go behind the action of that officer. This gives him tremendous power and causes members of the board to be in a position peculiar for its weakness. If the superintendent should choose to act arbitrarily about a matter with reference to the appointment or retention of teachers, the board, who created him, would have little power to rectify the matter.

Such a system works admirably in the hands of a broad-minded man, who is too big and broad to be swayed by prejudice or influenced unduly by friendship or hatred of individuals.

Mention of the name of Solder, naturally brings up the question, what would have been had he not done under the present circumstances. The Argus has interviewed a number of persons in order to obtain the practical value to this system, and finding it unwise to the effect that Solder would have cleaned up this matter in a hurry and that his actions would have been to the benefit of the people. "Oh, for just one day of judgment, fairness and courage of F. Louis Solder, and this whole matter would be settled and St. Louis would cease to be the laughing stock of the country. Shame of the departed, hover near and infuse that spirit into the present conditions, we pray."

Terpsichorean Garden

A terpsichorean garden, something new in outdoor summer amusement, will be introduced at 426 West Belle Pl., Wednesday evening, June 10.

A spacious dance floor, brilliantly illuminated, is being constructed for the real lovers of the fantastic.

The Harmony Orchestra, under the leadership of Eugene R. White, will furnish the music and competent instructors will teach the old and new dances. The garden will also be open for strictly first class affairs. The Argus will give further particulars of this new enterprise.

BIG ATTRACTIONS BOOKED FOR STREET FAIR

Carnival Company From Georgia Has Been Engaged. Churches, Societies and Lodges Taking Advantage of Big Offer

The Big Charity Carnival, Street Fair and Bazaar, which is to be held on the grounds at Cardinal and Manchester from June 21 to July 21, is attracting unusual attention. It is evident that the company, under the management of Robert McCloskey, 3227 Laclede, intends to outclass any previous attempts in this line of outdoor summer amusement. During the past week a contract was let for a big carnival company of Georgia and several other attractions were booked.

Many charitable and fraternal organizations have already engaged concession booths under the free offer. In fact, this seems to be a splendid opportunity to replenish the treasury of organizations without expense, as the promoters are offering free space to all applicants.

Mr. McCloskey says his company is prepared to carry out every promise it is making in its advertisements and special communications and will make this big attraction the artistic equal, if not the superior, of any like enterprise ever staged this summer.

Applications for space must be in not later than June 10. A day will be set aside for each organization, and the gate receipts divided. The admission will be 10 cents each night. Those desiring space or further particulars should phone Bomont 2759 or write Robert McCloskey, 3227 Laclede.

PARKWAY BOOMING

Many Business, Profession and Fraternal Men Support Movement

As the time draws near for the people to decide by their vote whether they shall have a parkway or not, much interest has manifested itself on the part of colored people in this city. Many men who were inclined to doubt the propriety of the plan. Some of the St. Louis' most progressive citizens are supporting the parkway.

A. W. Lloyd, Grand Chancellor, Knights of Pythias, State of Mo., said: "I favor the Central Parkway because we cannot afford to let greater St. Louis fall behind in development. The same spirit in St. Louis among its white and colored citizens that exists in Kansas City would secure a Central Parkway by a non-exampled majority."

H. S. Ferguson, a business man, said: "One of the best ways to witness the multitude enjoying the Parkway of Kansas City to be convinced of its value to the public."

Rev. J. W. Carter, pastor of Metropolitan A. M. E. Z. Church, said: "I believe in a progressive city and will always be found in progressive movements and why shouldn't I favor the Parkway if it stands for the progress of St. Louis?"

Many others who believe in "St. Louis to the Front" are lined up for the Parkway and are ready to see that the proposition will carry by a large majority June 8.

Pastor Harris will preach next Sunday on the subject, "Paying the Debt of a Wasted Life."

METROPOLITAN NOTES

By Miss Callie King

Last Sunday was another record breaker at the Metropolitan A. M. E. Zion Church. It was said by all who were present that Dr. Shaw delivered one of the most powerful sermons that he has ever delivered since being in this city. Several joined the church.

Sunday closes this conference year. The pastor will be away after next Tuesday at conference; he will, no doubt, be at his best Sunday, since it is his farewell sermon for this conference year.

The choir at Metropolitan is charming the city with its sweet singing, the professional and recreational add to the solemnity of the services. Mr. Austin, the chorister, is receiving many congratulations for the splendid music rendered by the choir.

An Appeal to Students

By Rev. Howard W. Pope

Representative of Miss. Monthly Bible School of Chicago

TEXT—Study to show Christ crucified

John 8:12

Mr. Gladstone was once asked what was the leading question in England at that time.

He replied that there was but one leading question at that time, or at any time since that was the question of one's relation to the Lord Jesus.

He then went on to say that the brainless men were those who paid most attention to this subject.

"I have known personally all the men who have been prominent in England during the last fifty years, in business, politics, or literature, and of the sixty most prominent men, fifty-four have been professing Christians."

If Mr. Gladstone was right, and if the question of one's relation to Christ is the leading question which controls the life of every individual, then that he settled it early. Indeed this question lies at the basis of all education. What is the real object of education? It is to increase one's capacity to know God, and to make him known to others. What is education for, what life is for. "And this is the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3).

To the student of the Bible, who is capable enough to see from his own knowledge of God. When the devout astronomer Kepler made his great discovery, he exclaimed, "God, God, I think I have found it. There is no greater joy than this, unless it be that of seeing God's character reproduced in our lives. If this be true, then education is not optional with us, but imperative. We are bound to cultivate every latent which we possess, because each is an avenue through which God may reveal himself to us. We are bound to open every window of our soul towards Jerusalem," and let in the light of God's glorious truth.

The superior advantage which students enjoy make it doubly important that they should become acquainted early with the Bible. Education enlarges one's capacity to see and to do, and to do to undo. It multiplies his influence, and thus increases his responsibility, since the welfare of others depends upon his action and attitude. No educated person can possibly live a Christian life without leading others to do the same. This consideration should have great weight. A professor in a large military school recently told the writer that it was the thought of his influence with the boys which led him to decide for God and put himself on record as a Christian.

Again, the peculiar temptations which confront a student make an acquaintance with Jesus indispensable. Among these may be mentioned:

(1) The freedom from home restraint. The strong, steady hand of the father and the indescribable influence of the mother is lacking. There is no younger brother or sister to be considered, not even the restraining influence of someone else's sister. The consequence is that one grows selfish and comes to think that the world was made for him.

(2) The petty vices which prevail so commonly among students. By the side of the writer in college at the college of the class. He was a well-dressed man, but he had no religious principles. When other students were not strong enough to refuse, after graduation he studied law and became one of the most brilliant and powerful lawyers in the state. As his reputation grew, he was more frequent, and having no acquaintance with him "who is able to save the sinner," and "able to keep him from falling," he soon lost his standing and business, and died a common drunkard.

(3) Not the least of the dangers which confront a student is the temptation to doubt. He lives in a state of inquiry and criticism. Old theories are being laid aside and new facts are constantly being discovered. Possibly he sees some of his instructors, for whose ability he has the highest respect, utterly indifferent to the claims of the Gospel. He is surrounded by a host of converts at religion. He is just at the age when his critical faculties are being developed, and he begins to question everything which is once believed. Add to this the natural willingness of the heart to have it so, and you have a combination of circumstances calculated to shake the strongest faith. Some, indeed, think it a sign of superior intellect to doubt, but this is a mistake. It is sometimes a sign of spiritual blindness and of moral obliquity. A large part of the skepticism of students is of the heart rather than of the head.

Let men tempt the devil in tempt them—Satan.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JUNE 6

NATHAN REBUKED DAVID

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 17:1-17

GOAL—To see that we have a clean heart O God—Psalm 139:23

This is a lesson that demands great care in its presentation and treatment, which will differ widely according to age. For the younger the briefest sort of statement that David fell in love with Uriah's wife and to obtain her had her husband killed will be sufficient. With such, throw the emphasis upon the danger of heart purity will thoughts and the need of heart purity (see Golden Text).

With adults, however, some time may be devoted to the fact that David which is such a menace to every nation, care being taken to show the discussion become moral, or that we ought to emphasize the fact that the cure is not in registration or reformation but in the regeneration of the human heart.

David's Many Good Deeds, If Samuel, 7 and 8. As a background for the most repulsive sin David had a long list of excellent deeds. His desire for a better abiding place for his ark was not according to God's law for two reasons: first, that as ornate house might easily corrupt, through idolatry, the spirituality of the Hebrew religion; second, David was not a warrior and therefore not qualified for temple building. Though denied, David did not despair, but at once provided that his successor carry his ark to the place of its rest.

David's One Great Sin, If Samuel, 11:1-4. David's victories over his enemies are dimmed in a few words, yet his sin is set forth in detail—another evidence of the divine origin and inspiration of the Bible. David had followed the example of absorbing things and taken to himself many wives, evidently regarding his fancy as supreme and himself as above the law. David was "of great stature," and his position for all before him. David had had too long and too great a period of success and prosperity which had longed for of privation, and this led to his downfall. David was in ease while Joab did his fighting and a murderer and he record to no way seeks to palliate his guilt. From all this record brings to us many important lessons. Outwardly prosperous and his army successful, David must have felt in his heart the spiritual blight in the words, "But the thing which the Lord doeth, we know not" (Ps. 139:6). No psalm writing then.

III. Nathan's Parable, If Samuel, 17:1-7. It is an evidence of God's grace that he sent his servant to rebuke and restore this "man after his own heart." Such is his mercy, for he does not will that any should perish, but that all might come to repentance and be saved. The knowledge of forgiveness (Ezekiel 33:11; Matthew 23:37). No parallel ever had its desired effect more quickly than this one if brought conviction and repentance (v. 13) and led to the writing of the fifty-first psalm. It was a delicate task, yet it was a great one. Nathan's task was to reveal the essential sinfulness of David in that he did not become angry. Nathan's task was to reveal the sinfulness of his approach and to show him that David to condemn, unwittingly, his own course of action. This was better than to begin with rebuking and denunciation. Verse two suggests, inferentially, God's great goodness to David, which made the offense one of grace.

IV. The Ark and the Man—v. 7a. Those far the story is one all too common, then and now, of the strong crushing the weak and storing in their selfishness. What follows is the evidence of God's response to man's repentance, the parallel to which has nowhere else been found in the ancient world. The story of it is that David heard and heeded God's messenger. The whole sordid story with its resultant action on David's part brings us many good lessons. (1) That man who had lived a life of faith and communion felt most miserably when he neglected his duty and took his eyes off God. There is a grave danger ahead of the man who begins to live with sin (1 Cor. 10:12). (2) Though a man fall (the psalmist) yet he is not utterly cast down. There is pardon for the sinner and the most abject backslider. David's murderous hands and abominable sin found pardon. The story of it is that David heard and heeded God's messenger. The whole sordid story with its resultant action on David's part brings us many good lessons. That the Clover Leaf Causity Co., of Jacksonville, Ill., is forging its way to the front and in the hearts of St. Louisans is becoming more evident every day. It was the writers pleasure to call at the local office, located at 2359 Market St., a few days ago, and finding an opportunity to speak at some length with the District Manager, Mr. E. Hawkins, relative to the operation of this company in the city. Mr. Hawkins who was very busy, said that all he wished to say concerning the company was that they were paying their claims and forging to the front. As evidence of that fact he pulled from a drawer a list of claims that had been paid through the local office about eight feet long. With the names of a large number of business and professional men and women who had been disabled and had been benefited by receiving their money promptly. When asked what a list of other companies doing the same kind of business among colored people, Mr. Hawkins produced a list of ten agents directly under him who are employed by the Clover Leaf. He said, "Where is another company in this city that has so many colored men employed?" The Clover Leaf is making places for our men. They have a young woman employed as clerk and cashier, a very responsible position, which she fills with credit. "I have nothing to say against any other company. I am a booster and have no time to knock. A knocker never won anything by knocking."

Clover Leaf Forging To The Front

District Manager, E. Hawkins, Sees Bright Future For Agents

We found Mr. Hawkins very optimistic on the question of the future for colored insurance agents in this city and said that though the company was always willing to promote and encourage the agents to go to other cities where they might have full charge of a district, he was loath to give up anyone of his force on account of the peace and harmony that exist among them at present.

Some Hints To Moving Picture Patrons

As Told by W. H. King, Proprietor Of The Garden Airdome 2120 Market Street

First, patronize those places that give your race entertainment. When you don't feel like going to Forest Park, come to the Garden Airdome where you are always welcome. (Blood is thicker than water.)

How many white odons on Market St. employ colored help?—All of our employees are Colored.

We spent Eight Hundred Dollars in improvements, and every dollar was paid to Colored workmen. How many white odons on Market St. have done as much for the race?

If you think you are doing right by spending all of your money in white odons, let your daughter apply for a position as Cashier at one of them; and please let us know if all gets this position.

We are giving our patrons the best moving pictures that money can buy, even though we are forced to send to Chicago to get them because the white odon proprietors on Market St. have bought up all of the local service in an effort to keep us from doing business among our own people.

For any further information along this line, see Mr. King, 2120 Market St., at the Garden Airdome.—Adv.

MEMPHIS TIGERS COMING FOR THREE GAMES BEGINNING NEXT SUNDAY

Southern Champions to Meet Giants at Kuebler's Park. Sprudels Break Even in Two Hard Fought Battles

Charlie Mills' Giants will face the Memphis Tigers at Kuebler's Park, in a three-game series, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The Tigers, loomed up as the champions of the South and bid fair to surprise our diamond stars. The Tennessee boys are traveling in major company this season and three crack-jack games can be expected.

The West Baden Sprudels broke the Giants' winning streak Monday by winning a grueling contest, 2 to 1. Twenty-five hundred loyal fans saw one of the best games ever played here. Young Smith, a new pitcher whom Manager Mills discovered in East St. Louis, pitched a good game, but the Giants could not manufacture enough bingles off Casey, the Sprudels' speedy outwiper, in pell him through victorious. A sensational running left-hand catch by "Spec" Webster in right field was the feature of this game.

Sunday, the Giants scalped the Sprudels in the sum of 5 to 2, before more than 3,000 persons. Williams pitched a good game, and contributed a three-base hit and nine assists. Hewitt and Handy made huge runs.

Major League baseball is an tap at Kuebler's Park, and there's quite a bit of Major League jealousy afloat in the atmosphere.

Jack Mertens is giving excellent satisfaction as an umpire. Jack is on the square, that's the best of it.

Hasn't got to Charlie Mills. You can't catch him napping off first.

Our cordial neighbors on the East Side pulled a bone last week by trying to segregate the Negroes at the Elks' game between our Giants and the East Side team. Mills' caught the signal and threatened to call the game off unless Negroes were permitted to occupy any seats they chose. Granted. But the rain prevented "Spec" and Company from wallowing them for being so rude. They also say the New City League tried the same stunt. Same results. No Segregation. Bravol Charlie.

Mrs. Elmore Wilson-Morton was conspicuous in one of the boxes at the games Sunday and Monday. This talented actress is to spend the summer in St. Louis.

BOOKER WASHINGTON PLAY

ROLL TOLL BIO FOR ONE NIGHT

Four Shows Necessary to Entertain Big Crowd Monday

It took four shows to entertain the hundreds of patrons who came to get their pay envelope at the Booker Washington Monday night and then many turned back because of the jam. Mr. Turpin has decided to make Thursdays as well as Mondays Pay Day.

"Chicken Reel" Beaman opens the show with the best line of original jokes heard here in a long time. He sings a parody on "Balling the Jack" puts over a song against the parkway and does some dancing that goes big. Frankie Barton and her Perdita present a lively act of song, dance and comedy. The combination of boxing and dancing by the three boys is well executed. A dance contest closes the act.

Mme. Cecil Watts, a real song bird of the prima donna class, possesses an excellent soprano voice and renders three numbers in delightful style. She is a sister of Mme. Francis E. Motin, of this city and is stopping with her at 4129 West Belle.

The Griffin Sisters close the show with an act replete with comedy, absurdity and tuneful melody. They display a wealth of dazzling costumes and cut up many unexpected capers that keep the audience in a continuous uproar.
